CREDIT COUNSELING INFORMATION

Participating in one credit counseling session (about one hour) is required to file bankruptcy. You are not required to participate in a repayment program, you are just required to complete the session and obtain a certificate for each person who is filing the bankruptcy. There are several providers that are approved by the U.S. Trustee to provide counseling. We currently recommend Allen Credit & Debt Counseling Agency. You can take the course online at www.allencredit.com. If you do not have access to a computer/smartphone then you can call 1-888-415-8173 and take the course over the phone. The cost is currently $20 for couples or individuals if taken online, or $25 if taken by phone. At the conclusion of the course there is a short chat that must be completed to receive your certificate. This process must be complete in order to file your case. Please provide them with the Attorney Code 1a964 and they will email your certificate to us once the course is complete. If it is not complete the day you meet with us, we will prepare your case for filing and wait for the course to be completed. Make sure you complete the creditor worksheets and budget in our packet before contacting them as you will need to provide them this identical information.

Don't hesitate to set your filing appointment with us prior to completing the credit counseling. Once you have met with our office, paid your fees and we have received your credit counseling certificate, we will be ready to file your case.

CREDITOR INFORMATION

Bankruptcy law requires that all creditors must be listed. If any creditor is not listed, they may not be discharged and your case may be dismissed. Each creditor listed must include the correspondence address (not the address where you send the payment) including the zip code, the amount owed, the date incurred and the account number. Some creditors, particularly medical, have many account numbers for the same person DO NOT LIST EACH ACCOUNT SEPARATELY. List the creditor once, but write down all of the account numbers in the space provided for the creditor. If you don't have addresses for the creditors, they can often be found on the internet or on your credit report. The cost to add creditors to your case after filing is $75.00 before the hearing and $100.00 after the hearing. (This is the cost each time creditors are added, not the per-creditor cost.)

Below is a list of creditors often overlooked. Refer to it as an aid to help you list all of your debts.

List any and all insurance companies you know of (other than yours)

 $\Box$  You have cosigned on anyone's debt that has not been paid in full. List the lender and the person for whom you cosigned.

Someone cosigned for you on a debt that has not been paid in full. List the person that signed and the lender.
 You owe any money to any ex-spouse (Past due Child Support, Alimony, debts, etc.) or your divorce decree states that you are responsible for debts from the marriage. **YOU MUST BRING IN A COPY OF YOUR DIVORCE DECREE**

□ If you have ever cohabited, lived or been a room-mate with anyone list if there is any outstanding debt or if they will claim you owe them money. (Take any utilities in these old places out of your name).

Are you married and not filing together? List all joint debts and list your spouse. (Your spouse will still be liable for any debts you have together).

□ You owe medical bills. List all even if insurance is going to pay a portion of the bill.

□ You owe any taxes or tax-like contributions: IRS, Utah (or any other state), property, vehicle, Dept of Workforce Services among others.

You have something in your possession that belongs to someone else. You owe them any money for selling it?

□ You are financing the purchase of any TV, stereo, furnishings, appliances or vehicles, list all creditors, even if you are going to keep paying the debt. List the name of the company financing and the dealer you bought the vehicle from if applicable.

Any executory contracts (orthodontic or any contract where both parties have something left to do on).

□ You are renting or leasing anything. Write the name of the landlord or creditor. Also include present and former landlords for the past 4-6 years.

 $\Box$  You have borrowed any money from any friends, family or relatives.

List all debts that have been "written off".

 $\Box$  List any debt that was reduced by a creditor if you paid them a lump sum.

List any debt that was "forgiven" by a creditor.

List ALL Debts that you owe (even if you intend to continue paying) DO NOT LIST DUPLICATE CREDITORS. If a creditor has multiple account numbers, list name once but include all account numbers for the ONE listing. Use the correspondence address if bill received within the last 90 days.

USE THIS TO HELP YOU VALUE YOUR PERSONAL PROPERTY

You need to list everything you own (or are buying). The Law requires that you value these items at the amount it would cost you to replace your possessions if you purchased identical used items.
